

April 21, 2016

VIDEO: This skybridge will be packed with amenities, like a 75-foot lap pool

Connecting feature at JDS's American Copper Buildings will contain crazy perks

April 21, 2016 04:30PM

By Alistair Gardiner

New York City is home to increasingly fewer skybridges, but soon there will be one more in the mix.

JDS Development Group's "dancing" towers in Kips Bay, which have just been dubbed the American Copper Buildings, will be joined by a three-story, 100 foot-long skybridge. The connecting feature will be topped with private terraces and packed with its own amenities, including a 75-foot lap pool, whirlpool hot tub, residents' lounge and bar, and fitness center.

The rental buildings, which are named for the 5,000 copper panels that will compose its facade, will feature a rooftop infinity view pool, a Turkish style Marble Hammam spa room with plunge pool, and juice and health bar. According to the project's teaser site, leasing for the project's 761 units will begin this fall.

Watch the video above to see renderings of the SHoP Architects-designed development and its amenity-stuffed skybridge.

For more videos, visit The Real Deal's YouTube page.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YqLSrFLdXj4>

<http://therealdeal.com/2016/04/21/video-this-skybridge-will-be-packed-with-amenities-like-a-75-foot-lap-pool/>